The Lines Company welcomes the Electricity Authority announcement

The Electricity Authority's decision to review the pricing system used by The Lines Company is being welcomed by the King Country-based power distributor.

"The Lines Company Board has already committed to a substantive review of the customer pricing policies used. Work being done in parallel by the Electricity Authority will bring valuable ideas and insights into our overall assessment" says The Lines Company Chair Mark Darrow.

Chief executive Brent Norriss said "The authorities involvement will help to reassure our customers that the outcome of our pricing strategy review is the very best and most thorough result obtainable. This work will be done in consultation with the community, as we have done recently with the review of our terms and conditions. "

The Electricity Authority is an independent crown agency set up by the Government to promote the efficient and reliable operation of the electricity industry for the long-term benefit of all consumers.
